A star in the Judgment of Paris, consistently beating all French wines in world tastings - even the king of basketball, LeBron James, is a huge fan and celebrated his 33rd birthday at the winery.

20

Pinot Noir | Willamette Valley, Oregon | 2016

Coming from the famed Sommelier and Winemaker Raj Parr, this is a blend of source from 3 vineyards within Eola-Amity Hills. Beginning with their biodynamically farmed Seven Springs estate vineyard, Eola Springs and Rocky Hill. All 3 sites are dry-farmed in volcanic soils. These same vineyards go into their Evening Land label

Jason Stephens, "Estate"

Cabernet Sauvignon | Santa Clara Valley, California | 2014

Hailing from Gilroy, California - grapes have been grown here for over 200 years! While it's a stone's throw from Silicon Valley, this Cab has plenty of amplitude, but avoids thickness and stays clear and easy to drink. Finishes with good length and enough fine tannin to stand up to steak but not get in the way of solo sipping. The kind of wine that could "disrupt" your premium Napa Cab habit!

THE DEAN'S LIST

Easton Porter Group, the proprietors of Wild Common, Zero George, Cannon Green, Pippin Hill and Red Pump Kitchen, feel that wine is an integral part of the dining experience and have gone to great lengths to build Award-Winning Wine Programs. Even so far as to starting their own Winery!

While there are many good wines in the world -
only the best make The Dean's List

PEAY WINERY

The wife and husband duo of Vanessa Wong Peay and Andy Peay share a passion for Pinot Noir and Syrah. Their vineyards are way out on a ridge above the Pacific Ocean - cold, foggy and often times inhospitable. This terroir makes for some of the most complex and compelling wines in California.

DOMINIQUE LAFON

In 2008, Burgundy winemaker Dominique Lafon created his namesake label, separate from his family's - Domaine des Comtes Lafon, with the aim to craft his own style. This wine comes from two vineyards in Meursault & Puligny-Montrachet that would usually fetch $250+ a bottle making Dominique's wine an exceptional value.

CATHY CORISON

Started in 1987, Corison Winery is a small family farm making organic and natural wines. Named the Winemaker of the Year and one of the first female winemakers in California (she was winemaker for Freemark Abby in the late 70s, Chappellet after that). Her farm is home to some of the oldest Cabernet Vineyards in Napa Valley.
